Taste: Uplifted nose of apricot, banana, and lemon custard. When this hits your lips, the first thing you'll notice is that it's much drier than the other Columbia Valley white wine releases we've released in the past, delivering a juicy texture with very low residual sugar. A real crowd pleaser.

Cameron Confidential: Here at headquarters, we define "Triage" as the process of going through some of our undeployed high-end wine components and narrowing them down to one ultra-premium blend. No oak here – just a smooth, refreshing wine with bright flavors, palate-cleansing acidity and a crisp dry finish. It's one of the best white wine values that we've ever produced.
