CAMERON HUGHES Lot 112 Merlot

2005, Napa County

Taste: Round and harmonious on the palate but balanced with bright, crisp cherry and strawberry fruits. There's a touch of spice here as well. The well-integrated oak brings out notes of supple chocolate on the finish. This wine is very food-friendly and easy to drink but has a beautiful complexity and richness. The perfect everyday wine.

Cameron Confidential: Lot 112 Napa County Merlot represents exceptional value. Sourced from the un-appellated Coombsville and Jamieson Canyon regions (which is why it has the Napa County designation), this wine has the beautiful, supple structure and classic fruit profile of great Napa Merlot (which requires a few minutes of swirling in the glass to get going). Sourced from one of the most-respected wineries in the Napa Valley (where it is sold for $24/bottle), this wine is sure to please those of you who crave merlot or those of you looking for a supple wine with harmonious mouth feel and great character.
