Lot 120 Cabernet Sauvignon

2006, Atlas Peak, Napa Valley

“The nose draws you down into the glass with dusty mocha, vibrant cassis, and ripe blackberry. Rich blackberry/blueberry fruit, plush mouthfeel and bold tannins in a finish of dark chocolate and cassis. Fantastic!”

Our company was founded on the concept that exquisite wine should be available at everyday prices. Cameron is a wine négociant who travels the world in search of exceptional wines to share with wine lovers in select markets. Our wines are sourced from the finest growers and winery partners who must remain anonymous as they produce wines for much more expensive projects.

“Recently ranked #18 of the fastest growing private companies in the U.S.”

CAMERON HUGHES

Lot 120 Cabernet Sauvignon

2006, Atlas Peak, Napa Valley

Taste: Black/Dark red color. Ethereally structured, almost concave nose that draws you down into the glass (I find this type of nose often on high-altitude, highly structured reds). Dusty mocha, vibrant cassis, and ripe blackberry on the nose with a chewy midpalate of rich blackberry/blueberry fruit, plush mouthfeel and bold tannins in a finish of dark chocolate and cassis. Fantastic!

Cameron Confidential: This is another “wow” wine from the mountain districts of Napa Valley. The Atlas Peak Cabernet is a bottling blend that we did nothing to but bottle as the winery projections for $85 cabernet faded. The wine saw 51% new, 39% one year-old, and 10% 2 year-old 59 gallon French oak barrels. The grapes were grown at elevations between 1,400 and 2,400 feet in poor soils well above the fogline. Again, sourced from an $85/bottle program and potentially our best cabernet to date — certainly up there with Lots 16 and 47 — and, in my opinion, better. We tasted this on some industry folks earlier this week and they were blown away. Drink or hold. You’ve got 15+ years of cellar capability on this wine.
