

CAMERON HUGHES

Lot 138 Cabernet Sauvignon

2007, Santa Barbara County

“A fine balance of copious ripe fruit with light mineral influences and herbal spices — a trademark of the region. The acidity is in tune with the fruit and the tannic structure is soft with fine integration. Juicy red and black currant flavors show impressive fruit with admirable restraint. Imagine beautiful Napa structure, with fun central coast fruit and spice.”

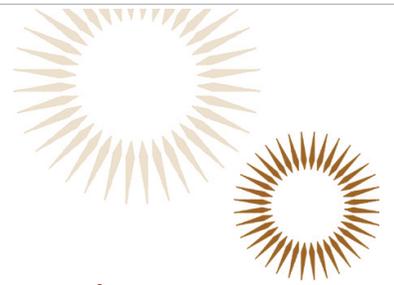

Our company was founded on the concept that exquisite wine should be available at everyday prices. Cameron is a wine négociant who travels the world in search of exceptional wines to share with wine lovers in select markets. Our wines are sourced from the finest growers and winery partners who must remain anonymous as they produce wines for much more expensive projects.

CAMERON HUGHES

Lot 138 Cabernet Sauvignon

2007, Santa Barbara County

Taste: Dark cherry red with a crimson rim. Aromas of warm blueberry cobbler, cinnamon and clove on the nose, this wine has a fine balance of copious ripe fruit with light mineral influences and herbal spices, which is a trademark of the region. The acidity is in tune with the fruit and the tannic structure is soft, yet silky, with fine integration. Juicy red and black currant flavors show impressive fruit sweetness with admirable restraint. Showing superior approachability right now, this wine has fantastic mouth feel and will drink beautifully for the next 4 to 6 years.

Cameron Confidential: So imagine beautiful Napa structure, with fun central coast fruit and spice. Made from estate fruit grown in the highlands around Santa Barbara at elevations well over 2800 feet, these grapes sit in a similar heat index to Napa Valley. From a $30 Reserve bottle program, this wine comes to us from the makers of Lots 117 and 118. Back during my times as a cellar rat at Corbett Canyon, this producer had one of my favorite tasting rooms and wine school. So if you're looking for a good 'go-to' Cabernet, this is your wine. It's an awesome bargain.
