

CAMERON HUGHES

Lot 143 Cabernet Sauvignon

2007, Howell Mountain District

In the glass, this wine is a rich mulberry color with the fragrance of violets and Cassis. The nose quickly opens to aromas of ripe plums and savory roasts with a subtle background of cigar box. On the palate are juicy and penetrating flavors of currants, rose petal and earth layered with an opulence of wild dark fruits. Perfectly balanced, with bold acidity, a full body and classic Howell Mountain fruit, this superior Cabernet will continue to age with great poise over the next 20 years. In the meantime, decant for an hour or more.
